INTRODUCTION about this report

WELCOME

Sam Sample recently completed the Leadership Skills Profile-Revised (LSP-R) assessment. This report presents Sam Sample's results and provides information to help guide the decision making process.

ABOUT THE LSP-R The LSP-R is a unique, empirically based assessment that uses a collection of personality traits to predict performance on competencies critical to effective leadership.

THE LSP-R SELECTION REPORT

This interpretive report helps the reader understand how specific aspects of Sam Sample's personality, behavior, and style affect the candidate's anticipated leadership performance.

KEEP IN MIND Because of the candid descriptions used in this report, it should not be shown to Sam Sample. This report is confidential and should not be placed in general personnel files or in other locations where unauthorized persons might access it.

GUIDELINES interpreting this report

CONSIDER GENERAL ACCURACY All data and interpretations in this report are based on professionally supervised statistical studies of the personality and performance of executives and managers in a wide variety of organizations. There is substantial evidence supporting the general accuracy of this report. Nevertheless, it should be recognized that 100 percent accuracy is not attainable in predicting human behavior.

FOCUS ON THE MOST RELEVANT RESULTS Some statements will be more applicable to the respondent than will others. Where multiple interpretations and explanations are present, all explanations are helpful, but some will be more important than others. This will depend on the individual's particular situation and the requirements of the candidate's position.

LOOK FOR OVERALL PATTERNS Occasionally, some interpretations of the individual's behavior might appear to conflict with others. These apparent inconsistencies are usually due to the imprecision of language, or to nuances of meaning attached to related aspects of personality. Try to focus on the overall pattern of results, rather than on single interpretations.

EVALUATE RELATIVE TO THE POSITION

Evaluate an individual's strengths and weaknesses in terms of position requirements. It will be helpful to weigh each statement of expected performance in terms of how important it is to job performance and the organization.

EVALUATE RELATIVE TO OTHER DATA SOURCES

It is also recommended that you consider the information presented in this report within the context of other candidate data (i.e., structured interviews, aptitude testing, past performance, etc.).

NOTE THE PERCENTILE SCORING All scores in this report are expressed in terms of percentiles, which differ from percentages. Percentiles compare an individual's expected performance with that of a large group of senior managers and executives. By definition, a score at the 50th percentile is average. For more information on percentiles and how to properly interpret this report, please refer to the LSP-R manual.

- A preference for new and different experiences may lead Sam to incorporate novel approaches into the generation of new ideas. Sam's willingness to test new techniques rather than sticking with tried-and-true ones can help to foster creativity and original insight since they are able to pull inspiration from a multitude of experiences.
- Sam appears willing to put forth the effort required to achieve excellence, which likely includes finding new and original approaches to dealing with problems.
- Sam tends to have an intellectual curiosity that may stimulate creative thinking through a desire to probe and explore various alternatives.
- Individuals who tend to be socially confident and self-assured, like Sam, often feel assured in their abilities to create new ideas and innovations. People tend to respond favorably to Sam's original ideas because they are drawn in by their self-confidence.

RISK TAKING

The willingness to take sound, calculated risks, based on good judgment, in situations where the outcome is uncertain.

Individuals who are confident in their abilities, such as Sam, are not likely to second-guess their decisions and are usually willing to take risks if necessary to advance project goals. They are likely confident and can easily defend their decisions and choices.

THOROUGHNESS

The ability to attend to detail and develop a comprehensive approach to problems.
